

Emergency Button

Price: 15-50 EUR, in some cases with a monthly fee

Where to buy: In every electronic store; on the Internet.

Description: In case of a fall in the own household or in case of a medical emergency the user can push the button to send an emergency call. When pressed, it sends a wireless signal to a home console which dials alarm monitoring staff and alerts them of an emergency condition. Depending on the severity of the situation, alarm monitoring staff will summon friends, family, or emergency services. It's very important to keep the emergency button in close range, even in the own household.

Case description: On his way down to the basement, Mr. Walker has fallen down stairs. Now he lies on the ground and has bad pain in his legs. He is not able to stand up without help. Unfortunately, his wife has left the house to go for a walk with the dog. He pushes the emergency button to call for help.

Additional material:

Online videos: YouTube